

JERICO PROVINCIAL SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF And BURNABY SOUTH SECONDARY SCHOOL | Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

This unique 2500 student high school located outside of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada combined the nationally recognized Jericho Provincial School for the Deaf into the new construction of Burnaby South Secondary School.

Dr. Hill provided all the pre-architectural analysis of deaf student needs for inclusion in the comprehensive 9-12 Grade design solution. Special involvement of IBM of Canada and BC Telephone Company allowed for advanced analysis of voice recognition software, communications technology, distance learning, and other advanced instrumentation in the sciences.

Bingham Hill Architects, Vancouver, Canada